The majority of the employees of the National Bureau of Investigation (NBI) are considering a mass resignation because NBI Director Alberto Ramos* has appropriated files on several important cases and will not permit his subordinates to have access to them.

25X1A [REDACTED] Alberto Ramos, formerly a Brigadier General as Chief of the Philippine Constabulary (PC), assumed the duties of Chief of the NBI in January 1951 following the death of Joaquin de Tavera. Ramos reportedly has been implicated in several questionable enterprises, possibly including arms smuggling and accepting payments from large estate owners for PC protection.

25X1A [REDACTED]

25X1A [REDACTED]. It is believed that such a mass resignation by NBI employees is improbable.
